Announcement

STUDENT EDITORIAL BOARD FOR VOLUME 13

Beginning with Volume 12, Law and Human Behavior began a practice of allowing editorial board members to appoint a student to the Student Editorial Board. Designated students independently review papers sent to a board member. Normally, manuscripts are sent out to two reviewers plus the student board member when appropriate. This practice provides the students with experience in the review process and authors of manuscripts with additional feedback. We were fortunate to have a number of high-quality students serving on the board during 1988.

Justin Anderson, Brooklyn College
Ralph Boring, Arizona State University
Hedy Dexter, University of Minnesota
Steven Hart, University of British Columbia
Jeffrey Haugaard, University of Virginia
RoseMarie Ibanez, University of Arizona
Deborah L. Ivie, Georgia State University
Larry Amos Jones, University of Washington
Geoffrey Kramer, Michigan State University
Dirk Lorenzen, University of Miami School of Law
Elizabeth Luus, Iowa State University
Jennifer Reiss, Simon Fraser University
Ann Romanczyk, Adelphi University
Sally Rooney, University of Delaware
Jeff Ruchlinski, Stanford University
Tony Sachsenmaier, SUNY Buffalo
Mario Scalora, University of Massachusetts Medical Center
David Scherer, University of Virginia
Nancy Schneider, Northwestern University Medical School
Mark Small, University of Nebraska–Lincoln
Stacy Spier, Florida State University
David Susman, University of Kentucky
Tatiana Wanshula, Northern Illinois University