

Supplementary: Examples of diagrams that encourage abstract thinking styles.

I provide an example of a diagram that promotes an abstract thinking style used in the distal MS group in Study 2.

Figure S1.

Example of a diagram presented to the distal MS group (Study 2)

Note: In the distal MS group, to encourage the third-person perspective, the instruction was “Imagine that you are looking at the scene from a perspective outside of yourself (as if you were looking at a movie scene).” The icons used in the figures were created by the author.

